ODISHA STATE
LEGAL SERVICES AUTHORITY

Grant of legal aid in its pragmatic parameters has to be the real grant-in-aid. It cannot be a mere formality. The structural empowerment of legal aid would include existence of infrastructure but that alone is not sufficient. The adequacy has to be adjudged on the anvil of logistic facilitation of capacity rebuilding. To explicate, the legal aid provided to the poor, the needy, the marginalised sections and other categories who are entitled to such legal aid must get the adequate assistance from the persons of the legal community who project their grievances with sincerity and commitment in the court. Let it be clearly stated that legal aid is not charity.

Hon'ble Mr. Justice Dipak Misra,
Chief Justice of India

There is no gainsaying that Access to Justice ought to be 'economical' and 'effective' both. 'Economical', because, it is not a luxury but a divine right, and 'effective' because, finality of disputes is an important tenet of adjudication. Only a mechanism that guarantees the coexistence of both will be a successful model. LokAdalat is just that mechanism. It eschews processual strictures and focuses on practical Justice. Adopting an inclusionary approach and people's participation, it is constructed on the Gandhian principles of amicable settlement and self-governance. In fact, LokAdalat, in its microcosmic nature represents the true spirit of the words 'by the people, for the people, of the people'. It makes Justice-Delivery democratic and Dispute-Resolution definitive.

Hon'ble Mr. Justice Vineet Saran

MESSAGE

I am glad to know that the Odisha State Legal Services Authority is bringing out its Annual Report-2017. I had the occasion of going through the draft report which is not only a documentation of various activities conducted during the year in the State, but also a reflection of the spirited and dedicated contribution made by the State Legal Services Authority and its field officers to the legal service mission spearheaded by the National Legal Services Authority across the Nation.

The underlying objective of Article 39A of the Indian Constitution is essentially to ensure “access to justice” for all, and in order to achieve this object, the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987 has been enacted. By virtue of the said enactment, Lok Adalat has been given a statutory footing and Legal Services Institutions have been established to render legal services to poor, downtrodden and less privileged sections of the society under the provisions of the Act.

During the year 2017, various meaningful activities have been conducted in the State as per the schemes and guidelines of National Legal Services Authority, and a good number of pending cases and pre-litigation disputes have been settled in National Lok Adalats and in the Lok Adalats conducted under the aegis of High Court Legal Services Committee, District Legal Services Authorities and Taluk Legal Services Committees.

While appreciating the efforts of Odisha State Legal Services Authority, I am sure, the movement will continue to achieve greater pinnacles of success in the coming years.

(Vineet Saran)

Judge, Orissa High Court &
Executive Chairman,
Odisha State Legal Services Authority

Hon'ble Mr. Justice Indrajit Mahanty

FROM THE DESK OF EXECUTIVE CHAIRMAN . . .

The Annual Report, 2017 showcases the events and activities conducted by Odisha State Legal Services Authority with the sustained efforts and assistance rendered by its field units. The object of Legal Services Institutions is to provide free and competent legal services to the needy. Viewing conversely, the credo of these institutions is excision of barriers preventing the needy from access to justice. The National Legal Services Authority has evolved various preventive and strategic schemes to reach out the benefits of different social welfare legislations and Government programmes to the target groups with the intervention of the legal services institutions. To give effect to these salutary principles, the different role-players of the legal services institutions are expected to work with an assurance that no person within their respective areas of operation is denied equal justice.

In the year 2017, as the Report reveals, the cavalry of officers at field units have made commendable efforts. The Legal Services Institutions in the tribal districts have been able to make themselves visible to the masses. The excellent services rendered by the DLSA, Malkangiri in particular to the needy and distressed is quite appreciable, and requires special mention.

Awareness campaign remains atop the agenda of OSLSA. The year 2017 has witnessed, inter-alia, the enthusiastic involvement of the young school students in the legal services movement, be it through Skit Competition or during the 10 days long outreach campaign of NALSA titled "Connecting to Serve".

The journey, we undertake, is long and enduring. I am sure, our activities of the last year will encourage all stakeholder to excel in the coming year.

(Indrajit Mahanty)

Hon'ble Judges of Orissa High Court presiding over Lok Adalat Benches

B. District-wise reports on LokAdalat and other Activities :

Holding of National/ District level Lok Adalats at regular intervals is the best way to minimize the heavy pendency of cases in the subordinate courts. Lok Adalat by Mobile Van may perhaps be organised for a particular geographical area in every month where the cases are available and at Headquarters once in every quarters, and in every Family Court at regular intervals.

Balasore

Lok Adalat is not a Court in its actual connotation, but it is a new gateway for the disputants to get justice in a quick and cheap manner. If Bank Officials will be invited to hold pre- conciliation sittings in presence of the disputants at least twice before the scheduled date of Lok Adalat, there may be chance of disposal of more Bank cases in the Lok Adalat. More freedom should be given to the authorised agents of the Insurance Companies to settle cases involving higher amount of compensation, at least an amount of Rs.20,00,000/-. Arrangement of preparatory meeting with different stake holders including Judicial Officers ahead of Lok Adalat would secure maximum disposal of cases. The local print media and electronics media should be utilised for spreading awareness about Lok Adalat.

Lok Adalat is the easiest, best and least expensive mode for the litigants to dispose of their cases quickly. Much advertisement, awareness and propaganda are required to involve large no. of litigants. Both public and private sector units also need to be sensitized to have their pro-active attitude towards Lok Adalats.

Bhadrak

My first experience as the District Judge in conducting the last National LokAdalat held on 09.12.2017 has inspired and encouraged me to take effective measures for disposal of more cases in LokAdalat. Parties showed interest to settle their cases involving monetary claims such as, Land Acquisition cases, MACT cases, Bank cases, cases under NI Act etc. The litigants need to be motivated through media, street play etc. Assistance of police may be taken for causing services of notice of LokAdalat on the parties, priority should be given to the disposal of age old Civil cases and compoundable Criminal cases in LokAdalat, and Insurance companies should be impressed upon to follow the settled principles of law while settling the claims in MACT cases.

Litigants are found more enthusiastic to get their cases disposed of in Lok Adalats. Sometimes, non-availability public transport conveyance, bad weather etc. hinder the expected attendance of litigants in Lok Adalat. To secure more disposal of cases, the litigants as well as their counsel should be sensitized through the P.L. Vs and panel lawyers to avail earliest opportunity for resolving their disputes instead of pursuing litigation in the Courts. The defects and deficiencies, if any, in the cases may be pointed out to the concerned parties and their counsel at the stage of admission, so as to take up those matters in Lok Adalats for disposal, and the members of the Bar should be incessantly motivated to encourage litigants for settlements of their disputes in Lok Adalat.

Cuttack

Delayed dispensations of Justice, backlogs, come in the way of securing justice, and Lok Adalats have been proved to be boons to remove the blocks. Due to various Legal Awareness Camps and activities being conducted in the District, there has been a remarkable reduction in the litigations coming to the Courts. By way of Lok Adalats thousands of age old cases have been disposed of. To prevent litigations, Cuttack Judgeship has been in the forefront for providing forums for Pre-Litigation Resolution of Disputes. In the coming years, Cuttack Judgeship aspires to achieve more by including every section of the society in Legal Services Activities, by reaching out to every village and every house hold of the district through Para Legal Volunteers and Members of Students Legal Literacy Clubs and by increasing number of campaigns and activities on various legal themes and welfares schemes.

The effort made in the Lok Adalat and thereby reducing the number of pending cases and restricting the number of litigations coming to the Courts has reposed confidence in the minds of the people on the functioning of judicial system. Disposal of pending land acquisition cases and Bank Recovery pre-litigation cases is remarkably low for the reason of non-attendance of competent officials during conciliation sittings. That apart, in land acquisition cases settled in Lok Adalats, the agreed amount of compensation is not being promptly paid to the land oustee in-as-much as, the concerned department takes a considerably long time to release the fund. If fund is made available under a separate allotment with the Collector of the District for payment of the compensation as settled in Lok Adalat to the land oustee, the same will help more disposal of land acquisition cases. In Bank recovery cases, an uniform procedure may be adopted and followed by all the Banks regarding limit of remission of loan amount, so as to secure more disposal of pre-litigation dispute cases in Lok Adalat.

Gradually the people are becoming conscious about the benefits available in the legal services Authority. More and more year old cases are being disposed of in Lok Adalats under the schemes evolved by the Authority. However, due to non-attendance of the officials of public and private Insurance Companies during conciliation sittings, more disposal of MACT Cases is not achieved. Necessary instruction may be imparted to the Insurance Companies to attend conciliation sittings and negotiate directly with the claimants and their counsel. Further, the nature of categories of cases may be enhanced so as to take up more cases involving minor and petty offences in Lok Adalats for disposal.

Lok Adalats have been successfully organized resulting in reduction in pendency of cases of different categories and settlement of Pre-Litigation disputes. More disposal of MACT cases is not being achieved due to non-attendance of officers of Insurance Companies, more particularly, the private Insurance companies. Similar is the difficulty in Bank cases. Sometimes, Bar strike appears as a deterrent in the progress of Lok Adalat. To make the exercise more effective and productive, awareness may be spread by engaging Panel Advocates and PLVs and displaying documentaries on the benefits and success stories of Lok Adalats through electronics and print media, seminars should be organised periodically to sensitize lawyers, and strict instruction should be issued to Insurance Companies, Banks and concerned Govt. Departments to depute their authorized officers to attend and participate in the conciliation sittings.

At high level meeting instruction may be issued to the Bank officials for submission of their settlement schemes, and to depute officers having authority to exercise discretion in deciding amount of settlement in Lok Adalat. Since the Advocate and Insurance Officers in MACT Cases are taking the plea of attending conciliation at some other districts, pre-conciliation sittings in respect of those cases may be fixed in a centralised manner. Strict Guidelines may be issued to check avoidance or dishonour of notices issued in pre-litigation disputes.

Kalahandi

Due to holding of Lok Adalats a large number of cases are being disposed of in a short time and the poor people are getting the benefit of Lok Adalat. Several MAC cases, pre litigation cases of the Banks are being disposed of through Lok Adalat. Due to holding of Lok Adalats awareness among the illiterate litigants is being created. I am of the opinion that if Lok Adalats are held at interior pockets/remote areas, the villagers can get its benefit at their door step.

Phulbani

Lack of adequate manpower makes it difficult to get the notices of Lok Adalat served on parties in due time. Postcards have proved an effective way of notice. In modest pendency areas like this Judgeship the response of the insurance companies barring one or two, has been dismal. In many cases officials competent to take instant decision on the quantum of compensation are also not available at hand. The frequency of Lok Adalat could possibly be reduced for better response by the litigants, advocates and other institutional stake holders.

The insurance officials in MACT Cases are avoiding to settle the matter in Lok Adalat where the quantum of compensation is high, and the cases in which accident has taken place within a short time after issuance of insurance policy. Insurance officials may, therefore, be impressed upon to avoid this situation. Further, the Government officials may be impressed upon to opt for settlement in land acquisition cases and parties may be encouraged to opt for settlement at first hearing of criminal cases not involving moral turpitude cases, where the offences are not punishable with imprisonment for beyond three years and the parties in such successful cases may subsequently be allowed to withdraw the case in Lok Adalat. NGOs may be encouraged to propagate the message of benefit of Lok Adalat to general public and the work of NGOs in this regard be acknowledged by felicitation.

The local officers of the insurance companies refrain from taking decision in settlement of claims on plea of their lacking Authority. Hence, the Insurance companies at State level may be impressed upon to authorize their local officers to take decision regarding settlement of claims in Lok Adalat. The higher authorities of Banks at State level may also be impressed upon to issue suitable instruction to their local branches to adopt a more flexible and liberal approach during conciliation proceedings considering the financial condition of the parties. In many cases although during conciliation/Pre-Lok Adalat sittings agreement is arrived at, the parties do not turn-up on the date of Lok Adalat for documentation of the settlement/agreement. The Bank Authorities should depute their staff to motivate the borrowers in this regard. In so far as NALSA Schemes are concerned, it may be considered to modify the constitution of core team and sub-teams with engagement of more panel lawyers and PLVs for proper monitoring and implementation of the Schemes.

It is indeed a wonderful experience to be a part of the Lok Adalat. Be it, in the enthusiasm and extent of participation vis-a-vis the stakeholders and in the disposal of cases especially, the ones, which are pending for years together. As to the suggestion, with great amount of humility, it is submitted that the pre-conciliation sittings should be held by the Courts on each and every working day throughout the calendar year with a periodical review by the Hon'ble Court at the end of the month, which would encourage the litigants to be more participative and to create a sense of accountability among all the stakeholders.

Increase in frequency in holding National Lok Adalats at short intervals decreases the quantum of disposal of cases. It is suggested to hold the National Level Lok Adalat either once or at best twice in a year which could possibly give us the better expected result. The officials of Electrical Dept./P.H.D./and other Revenue authorities do not come up with any powers to enter into settlement at pre-litigation stage as a result of which the Lok Adalat premises is being utilized as a collection centre instead of being a Lok Adalat. It is felt necessary to take up the matter with the Govt. to authorize officers on behalf of Govt. with appropriate powers to negotiate the matter with the claimants and settle the cases through ADR mechanism.

Malkangiri

We have achieved great success in different fields, and most of the eligible persons have been benefited under different welfare schemes of the Government. The PLVs and the Secretary of the DLSAs are working at the grass-root level at remote villages, affected with Maoist problem, which cannot be penetrated by general administration. There is good response and co-operation from the District Administration as well as general public in Legal Services Activities. The number of Legal Awareness camps should be increased in order to penetrate into the remote areas in order to create legal awareness, so that maximum benefits can be availed by the needy persons.

By way of organising regular awareness camps for different target groups under different Socio-Legal themes and Schemes with active support and co-operation of the District Administration, by conducting training programmes for panel Advocates, Remand Advocates etc., organising various activities involving the enthusiastic student members of Legal Literacy Clubs, conducting programme in jails etc., the Legal Services Institutions are conquering the grip of the target groups. The PLVs being the right hand of our institution should be given more honorarium. Frequent workshops and training programmes should be held for them as well as panel lawyers, mediators and conciliators to keep them updated. Conciliation process should be continued to secure more disposal in the Lok Adalat.

Reduction in the pendency of cases through Lok Adalats has strengthened the confidence of the litigants in the Justice delivery system. To secure more disposal of MACT cases, Bank cases and land acquisition cases, meetings and conciliation proceeding should be conducted well ahead of the date fixed involving the authorised officers concerned. The Banks and Insurance companies should be impressed upon to nominate their authorised officers to negotiate with the borrowers in Pre-Lok Adalat sittings.

National Lok Adalat has indeed inspired the common populace to actively take part in the process of addressing their age old litigations with enthusiasm. It is felt especially in N.I Act cases, Bank suits and Matrimonial disputes. Participation with exuberance by all the stake holders in the legal process creates an atmosphere of festivity as if it is a National festival to celebrate victory over the evils of litigation. It also instils a sense of confidence in common litigants in the greatness of judiciary, which was earlier loosing the space in the mental landscape of the litigants for delayed and cumbersome process of Justice.

Lok Adalats have gone a long way in reducing the pendency of cases of different branches and enhancing confidence of general public in the judicial system. While dealing with Land Acquisition cases in Lok Adalat, it is often experienced that the persons authorized to represent the Government put up the plea of absence of modalities by the concerned requisitioning departments for enhancement of compensation under Section 18 of L.A Act. If necessary instructions are received by the concerned requisitioning department with regard to modalities for enhancement of compensation amount, it would go a long way in disposal of more number of Land Acquisition Cases.

The trust of public at large has successfully been rekindled so far as it relates to the concept and the mechanism of ADR including Lok Adalat. By way of making “Conciliation” as an on-going and a continuous process, the Courts have been in a mission to make Lok Adalat even more people oriented. In my considered opinion, the disposal of pre-litigation cases relating to WESCO (Electricity), P.H.D (Water) would improve, if their district level officers be allowed to grant reasonable discount on their outstanding/ disputed claims.

Disposal of good number of cases in Lok Adalats definitely provides a shy of relief to the judicial officers not only due to lowering down the pendency of cases but also saving the valuable times of the Courts. After completion of each Lok Adalats, we the Chairmen of different District Legal Services Authorities discuss among us about the number of cases disposed of in our respective judgeships. That not only enhances the competitive mentality but also provides inspiration to excel in the next Lok Adalat. The experience of watching the feeling of contentment on the faces of the claimants after settlement of compensation amount in MACT cases during Lok Adalats is inexplicable. The officers of Insurance companies attending the conciliation sittings should be empowered to settle MACT cases involving higher value of claim.
